Find the value of the unknown side length in each diagram. Then make up two similar problems for someone else to solve.